"Will $200,000 do the necessary work?"
"We think so. I believe the estimate of $300,000 was too large. It was made on the basis of $35 a foot, and the fact is, it costs but $13 a foot across the river. The expense of laying on this side is a good deal heavier, for a number of reasons, but the difference is not so great as that between $13 and $35."

But it will be necessary to make the mattresses very wide, at least 300 feet, The great trouble before on this side of the river was that we could not get FULL POSSESSION OF THE BANK at such times as we wanted it, and had to float the mats about and sink them in de-tached pieces. Wherever they were properly fastened and were wide enough to reach from the top of the bank to the bottom of the river, they have withstood the strain and accomplished all we could have hoped for. The work across the river is now in plain view since the RIVER WENT DOWN, and at every point where the mattress extended, from top to bottom, the bank has held, but where that was not done it caved. It is intended to do the work on this side in the most thorough manner and it is necessary in order to do that for the engineer to have full control of the bank. Nearly all who control the bank have signed a paper agreeing to get out of
